→ Today is a sunny day. The sun is shining in the vast clear azure blue sky. It is the perfect day to go for a picnic with my friends. May, Jason, our parents and I set off <sup>for</sup> a picnic at Shing Mun Country Park at 9 o'clock in the morning. My dad drives us to the park. We prepare a basket full of different kinds of food. We also bring a mat and a kite.

Luckily, my mum notices that there is a food truck nearby the picnic place selling sandwiches. My mum buys <sup>some</sup> sandwiches and juices, May's Mum buys two packets of potato chips and Jason's Dad buys some hotdogs and a few cups of coffee. Then, we share all the food together on the picnic mat. I am <sup>ticked</sup> ticked pink because we have plenty of yummy food to eat. I learn that we should look after our picnic <sup>to make</sup> sure no monkeys or people stealing it. <sub>basket</sub>

Today, I go to Shing Mun Country Park with Ben and Suki. The sky is peacock blue. The sun is bright and it warms our face. There are a lot of beautiful and colourful flowers and many big and tall trees at the park. There are a lot of grasses, too! Also, we can see some lovely birds and some pretty butterflies in the sky. I prepare a basket of food. We all feel excited and overjoyed to have a picnic.

Luckily, there is a tuck shop nearby. I scream,
 'Hurray! We can buy food and drinks over there.'
 We run at our top speed to the tuck shop. I buy a packet of potato chips, Ben buys a bottle of cola and Suki buys a bottle of orange juice. We all feel delighted and grateful.

What an unforgettable day! We learn that we should always keep calm. When we are calm, we can solve any problems.
