Write the story "The Fox and the Grapes" in about 90-120 words.

The Fox and the Grapes

A long time ago, there was a sly fox. One day, when he was exploring, he saw a grape orchard. The grapes in the orchard looked juicy and ripe.

On a hot summer day, the fox hopped over the fence and went into a grape orchard. He spotted a bunch of grapes dangling from a tree. It was the apple of his eye. He thought to himself "I am extremely hungry." "If I can eat a bunch of grapes, it would be delightful!" The grapes were purplely red, like a plum. They looked appatizing and juicy. "Wouldn't those grapes be just the thing to quench my thirst on a hot summer day?"

The fox stood on his hind legs and stretched. He thought "Oh no! I am not tall enough," he jumped and jumped again but he couldn't reach the grapes. He was as angry as a bull. He tried jumping again.

However, the grapes were too high for him to reach. He took a run and jumped even higher, but still no luck.

"Oh well," he said as he walked away, "I don't really care anyways. I am wearing myself out for sour grapes." And he walked away very scornfully. He has learnt that when people can't get what they want, they want, they will tell themselves what they want is no good anyways.

When suddenly, he realised that he could just simply shake the tree until some grapes fell down. He shook the tree for a while when eventually some grapes fell down. He thought to himself, "getting these grapes were a piece of cake. Now, I can enjoy these ripe grapes!" The fox gobbled them up and squinted his eyes "Eww! These grapes are as sour as vinegar! "Getting These grapes are not worth my time!" He regreted his decision and decided that he will never eat grapes ever again.

Write the story "The Fox and the Grapes" in about 90-120 words.

The Fox and the Grapes

A long time ago, there lived a cunning fox. He lived near a grape orchard. He liked eating fruits a lot.

On a hot summer day, while the fox was walking through the grape orchard, he saw a bunch of grapes on a tree. They looked juicy and tasty. The fox was filled with determination. He was desperate to eat the grapes.

The fox thought that it was going to be easy. He kept leaping and leaping but he kept missing and failing. He already gave it 100% effort but still failed.

At last, he gave up. The fox said to himself, "The grapes must be as sour as vinegar." The fox was dead on his feet.

The fox looked back at the tree. He really wanted to eat the grapes. He kept trying and trying and trying. After hours, and tears, he succeeded. He learnt that if you keep trying, you will succeed eventually.

The Fox and the Grapes

A long time ago, there was a young and cunning fox. He lived near Miss Cheung's house. Miss Cheung had a grape orchard in her big garden. They all tasted really sweet.

On a hot summer day, the fox was as thirsty as a lizard. He was desperate for water but then, his eyes fell on the grapes that were hanging on a very high tree. It looked really juicy and it smelled as sweet as morning dew. The fox wanted to eat the grapes. He said out loud, "I think I can grab the grapes if I jump really high," his friend, Mr mouse, replied, "The trees are very high. You can only reach them when pigs fly."

He tried jumping but he missed the hanging grapes. The fox jumped for a few time but he still failed, so he tried jumping on his hind legs but he still couldn't reach the grapes. He looked at the grapes with longing eyes. He felt as angry as a bear. He thought, "How can I eat the grapes when I can't even reach them?"

While the fox was thinking, he saw some big rocks which are very flat. Suddenly, he had an idea. The fox decided to stack up the rocks to make a staircase so that he can climb up the stairs.

In the end, the fox reached the grapes and he ate them happily. He learnt that 'When there's a will, there will be a way.'

The Fox and the Grapes

A long time ago, there was a wicked fox that lived near the forest. One hot summer day, he was starving. He searched for food everywhere. After a few hours, he still couldn't find his food. He felt disappointed and exhausted.

All of a sudden, he saw a grape orchard nearby. He got carried away and thought, 'Wow! The grapes look juicy and yummy. All of them are saying hello to me!' He wanted to eat all of them. While the farmer was taking a nap, he decided to pick the grapes.

He stood with toes and stretched his arm as long as possible to get the grapes but in vain. Then, he jumped as high as possible to get the grapes but in vain too. Unfortunately, the voice woke up the farmer. The farmer went bananas and shouted angrily, 'Stop, big bad thief! How dare you steal my grapes!' The fox was scared and ran away.

The fox felt blue and sat under the tree. He cried and introspected, 'What have I done? I should ask the farmer politely.' Then, he made up his mind and went to see the farmer, 'I'm so sorry. Please forgive me. I won't do it again!' The farmer said, 'As the saying goes, "If one can change after making a mistake, there is nothing better." I will forgive you!'

At last, the farmer shared some grapes with the fox and he thanked the farmer gratefully.

From this story, we learnt when we made mistake, correct it and never do it again.

The Fox and the Grapes

Once upon a time, there was a hungry fox. He lived near a forest. He loved eating food.

One day, he had a 'sweet tooth'. He walked through the forest. After what felt like forever, he found a grape orchard. The grapes were huge. The fox wanted to eat them so badly. He quietly jumped into the orchard while nobody was looking.

The fox used all his remaining strength to jump. However, he wasn't successful. He was demotated. He tried jumping in different ways too. Like using his hind legs. After a few tries, he knew he failed.

After that, he still didn't give up. He decided to look for his friend, Mr. Bird. He asked Mr. Bird to help him get the grapes. Mr. Bird happily agreed. However, he was unsuccessful. He thought of giving up, but didn't. He had a better idea.

He decided to hug the tree, then shook it. One by one, the grapes started falling. Mr. Bird and the hungry fox were happy and full.

They learnt to give up when pigs fly and to always use teamwork to solve problems.

The Fox and the Grapes

A long time ago, there was a cunning fox who lived in the woods near a huge grape orchard. The fox grinned. It thought of some ideas and suddenly, an idea hit its head.

The fox sneaked into the orchard quietly and walked through the orchard. Soon, it found a big tree with a bunch of delicious and juicy grapes that looked like marbles. Therefore, the fox wanted all the grapes and let off a sly smile.

The fox jumped, used a vine, approached, climbing up the tree... Although it tried many ways, the fox failed miserably. This time, the fox went bananas!

The fox yelled, "These grapes are definitely super sour! I won't pick it if I were a human!" The fox walked away and learned that he shouldn't be greedy.

Suddenly, the fox felt like he was followed by someone. It was the orchard's owner. He was as strong as an ox. The owner let off a cunning smile. The fox gulped and ran away. Unluckily, the fox was shot by the owner. While in heaven, the fox said, "I would never go to steal the grapes again!"
