When we <sup>went</sup> back to the grassland, the sprinkler suddenly sprayed some water out. 'Oh no! my leg is soaked!' My friend shouted.

Then, we went to a tuck shop and bought an ice-cream. Although it was very expensive, it was scrumptious.

At last, we needed to go back to school. We were so sad since we needed to leave the park and it was the last primary school picnic. I also learnt that I

Last week, the weather was beautiful, so we had our school picnic at Victoria Park. Everyone was looking forward to arrive at the destination as soon as possible to play.

While we were riding on the tour bus, some students were chatting and reading. Suddenly, some classmates threw up on the bus. The smell was terrible. At last, we arrived at the park. Everyone was thrilled.

We took a group photo first when we arrived. After a while, we found a nice place for our picnic. We talked and burst out laughing. Then, some classmates distributed food to us. We were happy.

Soon, we played ball games, like basketball, dodge ball, etc. Then, my classmates joined in the games. We had a great time. Soon, it was time to leave. On our way home, we were tired and we all fell asleep on the bus.

The school picnic was enjoyable. It gives me the giggles every time I think of those amusing bits. I learnt that I should cherish the time spent with my friends. I hope to travel again.

On 24th November, 2023, we had our school picnic at Victoria Park. We had a picnic because we needed to relax after the exam. The weather was great and sunny. All the grade 6 students and teachers went there together.

When we got on the bus, we were all excited. We chatted a lot on the bus, so it was noisy. Then, we got off the school bus. We took a group photo after that.

Next, we started to have a picnic. When we were eating our food, the automatic watering system was turned on. I was shocked and ran away immediately. Unfortunately, I still got wet. We moved away our food and picnic mat hurriedly.

Luckily, the water stopped spraying out but after a while, it was turned on again. We moved the picnic mat to somewhere there wasn't any watering system. At last, we had an enjoyable picnic.

Today, I learnt a lesson. I learnt that if something happens in a sudden, I need to stay calm.

Last Friday was a sunny day. My classmates and I went to Victoria Park. We were all excited because we could run openly on the grass and take a rest.

We got carried away on the bus and couldn't stop talking. One classmate said, 'Let's eat potato chips after we get off the bus.' Suddenly, the classmate who was sitting next to me threw up. Fortunately, we got off the bus very soon.

After arriving at the park, we took a group photo. Then, we put out our mat and started to play board games. I even brought a giant version of flying chess. We were over the moon. We also shared snacks together.

When we were having lunch after playing, some water sprayed out from the grass all at once. It was the lawn sprinkler! We moved our belongings away from the sprinklers hurriedly. Some classmates even screamed.

However, the water has already sprinkled into my lunchbox. I went bananas and almost cried out because I couldn't eat my lunch. 'Oh no! What can I do?' I murmured. Luckily, my classmates were nice and shared her food with me.

In the end, we left joyfully. On that day, I learnt that we must help each other and I wish I can always be friends with my classmates.

Yesterday, my classmates and I went to Victoria Park for our school picnic. We were all thrilled. The sky was blue and the weather was sunny.

We got on the school bus hurriedly and some of the classmates talked to one another. I did not say anything since I was really tired and too excited last night. I woke up in the early morning.

After an hour, we finally arrived Victoria Park. One of the classmates shouted, 'Hurray!' First, we went to a grassland and put our things under a tree. Then, I went to the basketball court to play with my friends. When I came back, I saw there were watering systems everywhere. They made everything soaked. Some of the snacks we brought were uneatable. A classmate said unhappily, 'So sad that we cannot eat them.'

Then, we searched all the places on the grassland and luckily found a place that was far enough. The sprinklers couldn't sprinkle the water into it.

Soon, it was time to leave. Many classmates fell asleep because we were tired of moving things all the time. I thought it was the worst picnic in my life.

I learnt that I should get some information before going to the place I didn't know.
